

2Solar is now Sollit: your solid partner for sustainable energy growth

Zwolle, July 3, 2025

As of July 3, 2025, 2Solar will continue under the name Sollit. The new name and visual identity mark the next step in the company's mission to help installers of all sustainable energy solutions digitize their operations and achieve long-term revenue growth.

In March 2024, the company introduced the name 2Solar by Sollit as the first phase of the transition. That transition is now complete: 2Solar is officially Sollit.

Over a decade of digital innovation in sustainable energy

For over ten years, 2Solar has supported more than 1,000 companies involved in the selling, installing, and servicing of solar energy systems. With its all-in-one software solution, the company helps installers digitize their processes and realize consistent revenue growth in a market where efficiency is crucial for profitability.

What started as software for solar installers has grown into a comprehensive operational platform for all types of sustainable installations, including heat pumps, EV chargers, and batteries. These products play an increasingly important role in the energy transition. The name change to Sollit reflects this broader focus.

"We're proud of what we've built with 2Solar over the past years. But the market is evolving, and we're evolving with it," says Robbert-Jan van de Worp, co-founder of Sollit.

"With Sollit, we're strengthening our promise to customers: to support installers more broadly and effectively - today and into the future. The new name and rebranding reflect our vision for the future of the energy transition."
